DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

The amendments to the abstract and Fig. 10 have been antlered and they have overcome the objections to the Specification.

The objection to Claim 1 has been overcome.

The amendment to claim 1 which added the step "rendering a display of a map indicating difficult access points" has overcome the 35 USC 101 rejection.

The amendment to claim 1 further defining Euclidean Distance has been entered and overcomes the rejection under 35 USC 112 second paragraph.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-6 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The cited prior neither teaches nor suggests that a method for locating difficult access points on a topological map use discontinuities between curvilinear distances of neighboring points. They do not teach a method with the steps of: scanning points on a map of curvilinear distances, using reliefs only crossable by detour trajectories; reading the estimated value $DT(0)$ of the curvilinear distance assigned, in that map, to a point C_{00} under analysis; determining a Euclidean distance $C(V)$ separating a point V under investigation, from the point C_{00} under analysis using a chamfer mask distance transform; determining an estimated value $DT(V)$ of the curvilinear distance assigned, in the map of curvilinear distances, to the point V under investigation; calculating an absolute value of any discrepancy between the estimated values of the curvilinear distances, $DT(0)$ and $DT(V)$, with the determined Euclidean distance $C(V)$; determining a difficulty of access of the point C_{00} under analysis based upon an inequality of the absolute value calculated and the determined Euclidean distance $C(V)$; and rendering a display of a map indicating difficult access points.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
